Sell the right outcome.
Recommend the right scope.
Protect the quality.

Do not sell pages. Sell the next business result.

Clients arrive asking for a website. Your job is to uncover what the website must change: trust, lead flow, bookings, sales, clarity, or ongoing support.

CORE MESSAGE

Samuel Studio builds custom, high-performance websites that help businesses look credible, communicate clearly, and convert more visitors into action.

30-SECOND PITCH

Samuel Studio creates premium custom websites for businesses, brands, creators, churches, ministries, and product-based companies. We combine sharp design with clear calls to action, mobile performance, search foundations, and the integrations each business actually needs. The result is a site built to earn trust and move people toward the next step.

THE SALES SEQUENCE

- Listen for the business problem.
- Clarify the desired customer action.
- Recommend one package and explain why.
- Add only the features tied to a stated need.
- Confirm scope, starting price, and next step.

MEMORIZE THIS LINE

Based on what you told me, I would recommend the [PACKAGE] because it gives you [CAPABILITY] to help you achieve [OUTCOME].

NEVER PROMISE

Do not guarantee revenue, lead volume, Google rankings, or a seven-day launch. The site says launches can happen in as little as seven days. Timing still depends on scope, content, feedback, and integrations.

The pricing structure at a glance

Every public price is a starting point. Recommend first; quote after the scope is clear.

PACKAGE	STARTING PRICE	BEST FOR	CORE SCOPE
Starter Website	$499	New businesses, contractors, small organizations	1-3 pages, contact path, basic SEO, fast mobile-ready presence
Professional Website	$999	Service businesses, retail/local, creators	4-7 pages, custom homepage, service/about pages, SEO + analytics
Business Growth Website	$1,999	Growing businesses, teams, advanced needs	Professional package plus custom design, CRM/lead capture, conversion layout, advanced SEO
Custom Website	Custom quote	Large or technically complex projects	E-commerce, memberships, advanced booking, dashboards, web apps, multi-location

PRICE LANGUAGE TO USE

- This package starts at $999.
- The final number depends on pages, content, features, and integrations.
- Let me confirm the scope before I quote a final price.
- We can reduce scope if needed; we do not reduce quality.

PAYMENT LANGUAGE

The live FAQ states that clients can begin with a deposit or package payment. Larger projects and add-ons may be reviewed before final pricing is confirmed.

Do not invent a deposit percentage, installment schedule, or refund policy. Confirm those details internally before promising them.

MOST POPULAR

The Professional Website is intentionally positioned as the most popular option. Use it as the default recommendation for established service, local, retail, and creator businesses that need a complete presence.

SELL IT AS

The growth system: the right choice when the website must do more than establish credibility and needs to support a repeatable lead, sales, or automation process.

COMMON PAIRINGS

- Sell Products or Services Online for a straightforward catalog, checkout, payments, or deposits.
- Never Miss a Lead for 24/7 FAQ and lead capture.
- Priority Website Care for higher-touch ongoing help.

CUSTOM WEBSITE / CUSTOM QUOTE

Use a custom quote for larger websites, complex e-commerce, memberships, advanced booking systems, dashboards, web apps, multi-location businesses, or any workflow that needs discovery before pricing.

The site promises a discovery and scope review, a custom proposal, a tailored feature set, and project-specific pricing.

BOUNDARY TO REMEMBER

A standard product catalog or payment flow can be Growth + Sell Products or Services Online. A large store, unusual fulfillment, memberships, multi-location logic, custom dashboards, or advanced integrations should become a custom quote.

Add a feature only when it solves a stated need

Use the customer-facing names. Internal labels are included here only so a new employee recognizes both versions.

CUSTOMER-FACING NAME	FROM	WHAT IT INCLUDES	TRIGGER
Get Found on Google SEO Optimization	$149	Page titles/descriptions, local search setup, search-friendly structure, indexing support	We need more visibility in search or local results.
Never Miss a Lead AI Lead Assistant	$299	AI chat assistant, FAQ responses, lead capture flow, business-specific setup	We miss inquiries after hours or repeat the same answers.
Let Customers Schedule Online Booking System	$199	Booking calendar, confirmation flow, reminders, calendar integration	Customers need to book appointments, services, or consultations.
Sell Products or Services Online E-Commerce Setup	$399	Product catalog, cart/checkout, payment setup, order notifications	The site must accept payments, orders, deposits, or digital delivery.
Website Copy & Content Help Content Creation	$199	Homepage, service-page, about-page copy, and call-to-action support	The client has weak, incomplete, or no usable website copy.
Keep My Website Updated Website Care Plan	$49/mo	Monitoring, security checks, backups, minor content updates	The client wants routine care and does not want to manage updates.
Priority Website Care Priority Care Subscription	$100/mo	Care-plan coverage plus priority support and more hands-on help	Faster response and higher-touch monthly support matter.

STARTING PRICES

All add-on prices are starting points. Integration complexity, volume, content, product count, platform requirements, and custom workflows can change final pricing.

Ask until the recommendation becomes obvious

The goal is not to interrogate the client. It is to connect their business problem to the smallest complete solution.

BUSINESS + AUDIENCE

- What do you sell, and who is the ideal customer?
- How do people currently find and choose you?
- What makes your business different from the alternatives?

CURRENT STATE

- Do you have a website now? What is working and what is frustrating?
- What content, photos, brand assets, and logins already exist?
- Where are inquiries, bookings, or sales being lost today?

OUTCOME + ACTION

- What should a visitor do: call, inquire, book, pay, donate, visit, or buy?
- What would success look like six months after launch?
- Which services, products, locations, or ministries need their own pages?

SCOPE + READINESS

- What is the ideal launch window and what is driving it?
- Who approves content and design?
- What budget range should we design the scope around?
- Which systems must connect: CRM, calendar, payments, email, inventory, or membership?

THE RECAP

Let me make sure I have it right: you need [SCOPE], the most important customer action is [ACTION], and success means [OUTCOME]. The main constraints are [TIMING / CONTENT / INTEGRATIONS]. Is that accurate?

THEN RECOMMEND

Give one primary recommendation. Mention a leaner or larger alternative only when it helps the client make a real decision. Too many options transfer the work back to them.

Match the business model to the package

Use this as a decision guide, not a substitute for scope discovery.

CLIENT TYPE / NEED	LEAD WITH	COMMON PAIRING	MOVE TO CUSTOM WHEN
New business or simple credibility site	Starter	Google + Copy	More than 3 pages or complex features
Service or local business	Professional	Booking, Google, AI Lead	Advanced workflow or multi-location logic
Retail or product business	Growth	Sell Online + Care	Large catalog, unusual fulfillment, membership, integrations
Restaurant, cafe, bakery	Professional	Booking or Sell Online	Complex ordering, delivery, POS, or multi-location
Creator or personal brand	Professional	Copy + AI Lead	Membership, gated content, custom portal
Church or ministry	Professional	Google, AI Lead, Care	Member portal, advanced giving, complex media archive
Growth team needing CRM + automation	Business Growth	AI Lead + Priority Care	Custom dashboard, app, or nonstandard systems

A USEFUL BOUNDARY

If the client only needs a simple checkout, catalog, payment, or deposit flow, recommend Business Growth + Sell Products or Services Online. If the commerce operation itself is complex, request a custom quote.

EXAMPLE RECOMMENDATION

Because you are a service business with six core pages and customers need to book consultations, I recommend the Professional Website starting at $999 plus Let Customers Schedule Online starting at $199. That gives you the room to build trust and a direct booking path without paying for CRM automation you do not need yet.

Say it simply. Make the reason specific.

These scripts are frameworks. Replace the brackets with the client's language.

OPENING	Before I recommend anything, can I ask a few questions about what the site needs to do for the business?
STARTER	I recommend the Starter Website, starting at $499. You need a focused presence that makes you look established, explains the offer, and gives people a clear way to contact you. We can keep it to one to three pages and avoid paying for features you do not need yet.
PROFESSIONAL	I recommend the Professional Website, starting at $999. You have several services to explain and need enough room for proof, an about story, search foundations, analytics, and stronger calls to action. This is the most complete fit without moving into advanced automation.
BUSINESS GROWTH	I recommend the Business Growth Website, starting at $1,999. Your goal is not only to look credible; the site needs to capture leads, connect to your process, and support measurable growth. This package gives us the CRM, conversion, SEO, analytics, and priority-support foundation to do that well.
CUSTOM	This needs a custom quote because the store, membership, booking workflow, dashboard, or integration is a major part of the project. I would rather scope it correctly than force it into a package that may leave out something important.
ADD-ON	You mentioned [PROBLEM]. I would add [ADD-ON], starting at [PRICE], because it gives you [CAPABILITY] and directly supports [OUTCOME].

VOICE

Premium, direct, and specific. Avoid hype, jargon, and feature dumping. A good recommendation sounds like advice, not pressure.

Acknowledge. Diagnose. Reframe. Advance.

Do not argue with the objection. Find the concern underneath it and give the client a safe next step.

It is too expensive.

I understand. Is the concern the total budget, the timing of the payment, or whether the scope will create enough value? We can adjust the scope if needed. I would rather remove features than reduce the quality of the build.

I can build this on Wix or Squarespace.

That can be a good DIY option. Samuel Studio is the fit when you want a custom direction, conversion-focused structure, integrations, and support without spending your own time designing and troubleshooting the site.

I need to think about it.

Of course. What part still feels unresolved: the package, the investment, the timing, or confidence in the result? I can make the next step clearer before we end the call.

I have a cheaper quote.

That makes sense. Compare the full scope: page count, custom design, mobile execution, SEO and analytics, integrations, content help, launch support, and care after launch. The right comparison is what the quote will actually produce.

Do I have to pay everything upfront?

No. The site states that you can begin with a deposit or package payment. Let me confirm the approved payment structure for your project before I promise specific terms.

Can I add features later?

Yes. You can start with the right core package and add SEO, booking, e-commerce, AI lead capture, or monthly support later. We should still build the foundation with your likely next phase in mind.

Can you launch in seven days?

Some projects can launch in as little as seven days. I need to confirm the page count, content readiness, integrations, and approval timeline before committing to a date.

THE CLOSE

Make the next step feel clear and earned

A strong close restates the need, recommendation, investment range, and immediate action.

CLOSING SCRIPT

Based on what you shared, I recommend the [PACKAGE] starting at [PRICE], with [ADD-ON] if we confirm [NEED]. It gives you [CAPABILITY] to support [OUTCOME]. The next step is the intake form so we can confirm content, timeline, integrations, and final scope. Are you ready to move forward with that?

THE CLIENT-FACING PROCESS

01	Discovery Form	Share goals, brand, and audience so the right direction can be defined.
02	Style Direction	Choose a visual direction that fits the brand and audience.
03	Design & Build	Design, develop, and refine with performance in mind.
04	Review & Refine	Tune the details before launch so the experience feels finished.
05	Launch	Test, deploy, and hand off a site ready to work from day one.
06	Support	Offer ongoing updates, edits, content changes, and post-launch support.

AFTER THE YES	Send the intake form, record the agreed package and likely add-ons, note every assumption, and make clear that final pricing and timing follow scope confirmation. The site says the intake takes about five minutes.
---------------	---

Protect trust after the call

A clean follow-up prevents scope confusion and keeps the premium experience intact.

FOLLOW-UP CHECKLIST

- Restate the business goal in the client's words.
- Name one recommended package and starting price.
- List only the add-ons discussed, with starting prices.
- Separate confirmed scope from assumptions and open questions.
- Link the intake form and state the next response step.
- Set a specific follow-up date instead of saying 'check in soon.'

FOLLOW-UP SUBJECT

Samuel Studio recommendation for [BUSINESS NAME]

DO

- Consult before quoting.
- Use the public package names.
- Tie every feature to a need.
- Qualify 'starting at' every time.
- Escalate complex scope.

DO NOT

- Invent payment or refund terms.
- Discount before adjusting scope.

FOLLOW-UP TEMPLATE

Hi [NAME], based on our conversation, I recommend the [PACKAGE], starting at [PRICE], because it gives you [CAPABILITY] to support [OUTCOME]. We also discussed [ADD-ON], starting at [PRICE], if [CONDITION] is confirmed. Please complete the intake form with your goals, pages, content, timeline, and required integrations. Once reviewed, Samuel Studio can confirm the final scope, investment, and launch plan.

SOURCE OF TRUTH

If the site and an internal document ever disagree, pause the quote and verify the current package page. This guide reflects dev.samuel.studio as reviewed on July 14, 2026.

Pricing and presentation recommendations

The offer is strong and easy to understand. These refinements would make it easier for a new employee to quote consistently and for prospects to compare confidently.

1. Add a true comparison strip

Show page range, SEO level, analytics, lead/CRM capability, support level, and ideal buyer in one row. This makes the upgrade logic visible without reading every card.

2. Clarify the commerce boundary

The site promotes Sell Products or Services Online as an add-on, while Custom Website also names e-commerce stores. State that straightforward checkout can be an add-on; complex catalogs, fulfillment, memberships, or integrations require a custom quote.

3. Define payment terms

The FAQ says deposit or package payment but does not state the standard deposit, milestone schedule, or when final payment is due. Publish or internally standardize the approved structure.

4. Qualify the seven-day message

Keep the strong speed claim, but add the conditions: limited scope, content ready, timely approvals, and no complex integrations.

5. Make starting-price logic explicit

Place a short scope disclaimer beside package and add-on CTAs. This reduces surprise when content volume, product count, integrations, or custom workflows change the quote.

6. Keep Professional as the anchor

The most-popular placement is strategically sound. Add a short 'choose this if' sentence that contrasts it directly with Starter and Growth.

7. Standardize care-plan limits

Define what counts as a minor content update, expected response windows, and any monthly hour or request limits for $49/month and $100/month plans.
